

wrinkles

My granny's face
Is full of crinkles
Like yummy ripple chips

And when she smiles
Her eyes twinkle
Like the brightest candles
Were just lit

She makes the greatest sandwiches
From white bread and brown beans
And she has a lovely cat named Ginger
She lets me feed bits of cheese

Sometimes we eat hot dogs
And mustard falls on her chin
And I say "Granny!
You need a napkin"

And sometimes
When my mom and dad are away
She often takes care of me
We play in her beautiful garden
And pick apples from her crab tree

All I know is
I want lines like hers when I'm older
Because she's the prettiest granny
I've ever seen

My granny says
She earned her crinkles
And I'm not sure what that means
